

Change of expiration date display

Thank you for using BROOK'S.

BROOK'S will change the expiration date of products from “year.month.day” to “year.month” starting in July 2020.

■ Display example:

Before change:	After change:
21.06.15	2021.09

* When the display is “2021.09”, the expiration date is September 30, 2021.

Up to now, the year has been displayed in the last two digits of the year. However, this change has been made to clarify that it is the Western calendar display rather than the Japanese calendar, and to make it easier for customers in countries and regions with different date display orders.

Some products may not match the English description “yy.mm.dd” on the package. To eliminate a misunderstanding with customers in all other regions, we will implement to display the correct deadline.

We kindly ask for your understanding.

At BROOK'S, we will continue to strive to further improve our products and services based on the opinions of our customers. We look forward to your continued patronage.